Examples of Online Volunteers delivery

Hurricane Irma in the Caribbean – deliver lifesaving information to the effected communities

After Hurricane Irma hit the Caribbean, UNICEF recruited a team of Online Volunteers and trained them to respond to messages on the situation and advice on how to stay safe. These volunteers have responded to 8,000 messages in 21 days and more than 25,000 people accessed this information using Facebook and Viber Messengers. To read more, click here

Syria and Turkiye earthquake – Counseling support for UN staff

Following a destructive earthquake in Syria and Turkey, a dedicated group of online volunteers offered counseling support to UN personnel and their families. They also monitored media for rumors while translating essential psychological support materials and life-saving information from English into Arabic and Turkish, ensuring these resources are accessible to those in distress.
