88/31. Mid-term review of resources for the fourth programming cycle

A

The Governing Council,

Having considered the forecasts and assumptions made by the Administrator as stated in document DP/1988/26 on the basis of which additional resources in United States dollars are likely to be $676 million for the remainder of the cycle 1987-1991,

Taking into account that the increase of resources is partly due to the appreciation in the value of some national currencies in relation to the United States dollar,

1. Reaffirms its decision 85/16 of 29 June 1985, in particular paragraph 3, whereby it had decided that for the purposes of forward planning an assumed average annual growth of total voluntary contributions of at least 8 per cent on a basis of the target of $700 million anticipated for 1986, shall apply, and appeals to all contributors to increase their contributions in order to achieve this goal;

2. Decides that of the $676 million additional resources, $600 million will be available for programming after provision for agency support costs of $76 million;

3. Confirms that Special Programme Resources will be allocated at the rate of 1.24 per cent of the total $676 million or $8.38 million; and decides to augment these Special Programme Resources resources by an amount of $101.62 million, making a total of $110 million for Special Programme Resources, the totality of these Special Programme Resources resources to be used for purposes indicated in the paragraphs below;

4. Further decides that the amount of $490 million will be distributed between country and intercountry indicative planning figures in accordance with the criteria established in decision 85/16, paragraph 5 (a) and 5 (b);

5. Agrees that in respect of country indicative planning figures the distribution should take into consideration the loss of purchasing power of indicative planning figures due to exchange rate fluctuations;

6. Decides therefore that the additional country indicative planning figures will be calculated in accordance with the following formula:

(a) Fifty per cent of the amount will be distributed proportionally to their existing indicative planning figures for the fourth cycle, and 50 per cent to be distributed in accordance with the criteria elaborated in paragraph 5 (d) (i) to 5 (d) (vi) of decision 85/16;

(b) The resultant indicative planning figures to constitute floors and ceilings in substitution for those established in paragraph 5 (d) (iv) and 5 (d) (v) of decision 85/16;

7. Decides further that the indicative planning figure for national liberation movements, the indicative planning figure for Namibia and the multi-island indicative planning figures shall be increased by a percentage equal to the average increase for countries belonging to the group of countries with a per capita gross national product between $750 and $1,500;

8. Further decides to increase the multi-island indicative planning figure by $2.5 million for the cycle, so as to establish a Pacific multi-island indicative planning figure to be financed from the unallocated indicative planning figures;

9. Decides that the additional amount of $110 million for Special Programme Resources will be allocated by three main categories as follows:

(a) Thirty million dollars for activities previously agreed by the Council and included in paragraph 35 (i) to 35 (iv) of document DP/1988/26. This amount is to be allocated in as close a proportion as possible to the existing earmarkings by broad categories previously enumerated, pending review by the Council at its special session in February 1989;

(b) Twenty million dollars for the Special Plan of Economic Co-operation for Central America, pursuant to paragraph 3 of General Assembly resolution 42/231, to be used for the promotion, co-ordination, implementation and follow-up of the objectives of the Special Plan through existing regional and subregional institutions;

(c) Sixty million dollars for a Special Programme for Management Development and Related Institution-building, the provisions of which are enumerated in paragraph 10 below;

Decides to establish a Special Programme for Management Development and Related Institution-building, to be known as the Management Development Programme, initially proposed as Management Facility in document DP/1988/76 as supplemented by the Administrator's introductory statement and the further clarification made by him and taking into account views expressed by the delegates in the debate, which will operate under the following principles:

Assistance to Lebanon

Bearing in mind the concern expressed by Member States about the aggravated situation in Lebanon and their interest in its returning to normal conditions of life and in its reconstruction and development,

Aware of the deteriorating socio-economic conditions of the Lebanese people and the magnitude of their unmet needs,

Noting with great concern the unprecedented inflation in Lebanon during the last four years and the catastrophic erosion of the value of the Lebanese currency, which has become equal to only one hundredth of its October 1984 value,

Convinced that there is urgent need for assisting the Government of Lebanon in its efforts for reconstruction and development,

1. Requests the Administrator to take urgently the necessary steps, in collaboration with the Government of Lebanon and the World Bank, to obtain the necessary statistical data needed to adjust Lebanon's interim illustrative indicative planning figure for the fourth cycle;
2. Requests the Administrator to continue to approve, on a temporary basis, projects submitted by the Government of Lebanon, to be financed by the interim illustrative indicative planning figure for the fourth cycle and the remaining funds brought forward from the third cycle;
3. Further requests the Administrator to take, in co-operation with the Government of Lebanon, all necessary steps to accelerate programme activities in the country and in this respect authorizes expenditures in the next year up to 60 per cent of the current provisional calculated indicative planning figure for the fourth cycle and the carry over from the third cycle;
4. Decides to examine the situation of Lebanon at its thirty-sixth session (1989), as a matter of priority.

2. Decides to defer further consideration of the item "Net contributor status" to the special session of the Council in February 1989 on the understanding that notwithstanding the provisions of decision 85/16, the Administrator could postpone taking action until March 1989;

3. Requests the Administrator to revise the formula for calculating the share of local office costs to be paid by each country covered by a multi-country office so that it takes into consideration likely fourth cycle indicative planning figure expenditures instead of pro rata annual fourth cycle indicative planning figures, and further requests the Administrator to use flexibility in the application of decision 84/9 of 29 June 1984 and paragraph 9 (a) and (b) of document DP/1988/70.

88/32. Fight against the locust and grasshopper infestation in Africa

The Governing Council,

Deeply concerned by the extent and seriousness of the locust and grasshopper infestation in Africa, particularly in North and West Africa and in the Sahel, which may adversely affect the programmes embarked upon by the African countries, the donor countries and the international organizations with a view to ensuring the agricultural development and food security and self-sufficiency of Africa,

Recalling General Assembly resolution 41/185 of 8 December 1986 and Economic and Social Council resolutions 1988/2 of 5 February 1988 and 1988/3 of 24 May 1988 concerning the locust and grasshopper infestation in Africa, as well as resolution 641 (XXIII) adopted by the Conference of Ministers of the Economic Commission for Africa in April 1988,

Bearing in mind the United Nations Development Programme regional programme adopted by the Arab countries at their intergovernmental meeting held at Casablanca from 16 to 18 March 1988,

Noting with satisfaction the initiatives taken by the Maghreb countries and the countries members of the Permanent Inter-State Committee on Drought Control in the Sahel, as well as the co-ordination between these countries and donors, inter alia, at meetings of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,

Noting that, despite the commendable efforts of the countries affected and the international community to contain the locust and grasshopper infestation, Africa lacks the resources required to cope with the large-scale outbreaks anticipated in the coming autumn and to finance a medium-term and long-term programme aimed at the eradication of this scourge,

Aware that desert locust control requires maximum rapidity and flexibility in the mobilization of appropriate human, scientific, technical, material and financial resources,

1. Endorses the project INT/88/705 contained in document DP/PROJECTS/REC/29 and Corr.1;

2. Urges the United Nations Development Programme and appeals to other sources of financing to provide, within their mandate, as a matter of urgency, the countries affected with the resources they require to cope with present outbreaks of desert locusts and grasshoppers and to contain the infestations expected to occur in the coming months;

3. Invites the United Nations Development Programme and other sources of financing to provide the countries affected with appropriate resources enabling them to devise and implement a regional strategy for the continuous and co-ordinated control of the locust scourge with a view to its eventual eradication;

4. Requests the United Nations Development Programme regional offices involved in the fight against locust and grasshopper infestation to co-ordinate their activities closely with the countries affected and/or the appropriate international, regional and subregional organizations in this field with a view to obtaining effective control of locust and grasshopper infestations, while safeguarding the environment;

5. Invites the donor countries to continue to provide the countries affected with the products, equipment and aircraft necessary in the urgent fight against this scourge.

Emphasizing the sovereignty of nations in the formulation, adoption and implementation of their population policies, consistent with basic human rights and responsibilities of individuals, couples and families,

Recalling paragraphs 2 and 3 of General Assembly resolution 3019 (XXVII) of 18 December 1972, concerning the role of the Governing Council of the United Nations Development Programme relating to the United Nations Population Fund,

Also recalling paragraphs 1 and 2 of Economic and Social Council resolution 1763 (LIV) of 18 May 1973, reaffirmed by the Economic and Social Council in resolution 1986/7 of 21 May 1986, that set forth the aims and purposes of the United Nations Population Fund,

2. Notes with satisfaction the new programme directions of the Fund, in particular improved substantive analysis, strategic programming and staff development and training;

7. Welcomes the Fund's increased emphasis on monitoring and evaluation as an integral part of its programming process, in particular the shift in the focus of independent, in-depth evaluations from individual projects to country and intercountry programmes and to technical areas and issues in a global comparative perspective, the establishment of an evaluation data base for lessons learned, the fullest possible use of evaluation results during the programming cycle, and the emphasis on training in evaluation; and requests the Executive Director to provide to the Council at its thirty-sixth session (1989), in her annual report, information on the Fund's experience with the system of feedback, and to include in her periodic report on evaluation to the thirty-seventh session of the Governing Council (1990) an overview of internal evaluation activities;

88/49. Audit reports

The Governing Council,

Having considered documents DP/1988/5 and Add.1 containing the audited financial statements and audit reports of executing agencies for the year ending 31 December 1986, the reports of the external auditors thereon, the comments of the Administration on substantive observations made by the external auditors and a description of the action taken by the Administration in response to Governing Council decision 87/47 of 19 June 1987,

Having also considered the audited financial statements of the United Nations Development Programme for the year ending 31 December 1986, and the report of the United Nations Board of Auditors thereon, contained in General Assembly document A/42/5/Add.1, as well as the views of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions contained in document A/42/579,

Responding to General Assembly resolution 42/206 of 11 December 1987,

Also taking into account the views and comments of the members of the Council on these matters, as well as the views of the executing agencies, as communicated by the United Nations Development Programme Administration, on issues directly related to them,

1. Expresses its appreciation for the valuable work performed by the Board of Auditors and for the thoroughness and wide scope of their audit report;
2. Notes with concern that the audit opinion of the Board of Auditors on the 1986 accounts of the United Nations Development Programme was qualified on several counts;
3. Notes with satisfaction that the Administrator has taken, or is taking, the necessary steps within his competence to correct the situations or conditions that gave rise to the qualification of the audit opinion, as required by General Assembly resolution 42/206 of 11 December 1987;
4. Recognizes that, in spite of the Administrator's efforts, the audit opinion on the accounts of the United Nations Development Programme may remain qualified so long as annual audited accounts in respect of its executing agencies have not been received by the Board of Auditors at the time the Board issues its opinion on United Nations Development Programme accounts;
5. Requests the Administrator to bring the problem referred to in paragraph 4 above to the attention of the Panel of External Auditors for consideration at its next session, in particular that of obtaining annual audit certification of United Nations Development Programme-financed activities for those organizations which presently require audited accounts on a biennial basis;
6. Suggests that the Economic and Social Council invite the governing bodies of the executing agencies to consider the provision to the United Nations Development Programme of annual audited accounts of United Nations Development Programme-funded activities, as requested by the Board of Auditors in their report, contained in document A/42/5/Add.1;

7. Welcomes the proposals made by the Administrator concerning the management and administration of the audit process in connection with Government-executed projects;

8. Considers that the existing procedures established by the United Nations Development Programme for the recording of unliquidated obligations should continue to be applied pending the findings of the examination of the Panel of External Auditors of these procedures;

9. Welcomes the measures taken by the Administrator to provide fuller disclosure in the United Nations Development Programme financial statements of overexpenditure on projects funded from cost-sharing and Government cash counterpart contributions, in response to the comments made by the external auditors accepting that, for the time being, the present basis of recording income and expenditure for those contributions, and for trust funds, should continue, pending consideration of this matter by the Panel of External Auditors;

10. Considers that its decision 85/16 of 29 June 1985 whilst representing an exception to the formula established by decision 80/50 of 30 June 1980 was not in contradiction to the principles established by decision 80/50;

11. Reaffirms the purposes for which funds held in the operational reserve may be used, as defined in decision 80/50;

12. 88/50. Agency support costs

The Governing Council

1. Considers that the successor arrangements for agency support costs dealt with in paragraph 34 of General Assembly resolution 42/196 of 11 December 1987 should be examined in the wider context of the evolving relationship of the United Nations Development Programme, Governments and the executing agencies of the United Nations system;

2. Decides as a means of facilitating its consideration of the most appropriate successor arrangements, to establish a small group of experts in the field of international development to make a thorough study of all the relevant issues and to make available its recommendations no later than 28 February 1990, and requests the Administrator to circulate the report and recommendations immediately, together with the comments of the specialized agencies, to all members of the Council to facilitate full consideration of this matter at the thirty-seventh session (1990) of the Council;

3. Requests the Administrator, after consultation with members of the Council and in close consultation with the United Nations agencies, as appropriate, to make a proposal to the Council at its special session in February 1989 on the following:

- (a) The appropriate composition of the group;
- (b) The working methods of the group and a timetable and work programme to be undertaken, following receipt of the group's recommendations, so as to ensure that the Council is in a position to take a decision no later than June 1991;
- (c) An estimate of all costs and financing associated with the exercise, including the programme of work following the group's recommendations;
- (d) The terms of reference for the expert group, which should include proposals on:
 - (i) The best way for the United Nations Development Programme to provide technical assistance to the developing countries, taking into account the evolution of new modalities for technical co-operation, as well as the capacity of the United Nations system to provide the required services;
 - (ii) Appropriate compensation arrangements to the United Nations agencies, Governments and other providers of services for United Nations Development Programme-funded projects on a basis which ensures enhanced accountability, project quality and maximum cost-effectiveness;
 - (iii) The manner in which the United Nations Development Programme, executing agencies and Governments would participate in this exercise;
 - (iv) Alternative arrangements between the United Nations Development Programme, executing agencies and Governments in the execution of United Nations Development Programme-financed activities, both projects and programmes.

88/51. Agency support costs: ex post facto report

The Governing Council,

Taking note of the ex post facto report of the Administrator on agency support costs (DP/1988/54), and of the views and opinions of members of the Governing Council thereon,

Welcoming the increase in technical co-operation activities from all sources combined and the increase in the United Nations Development Programme share in these activities,

1. Expresses its concern at the increase in the ratio between agency support cost expenditure and total technical co-operation project expenditure;

2. Requests the Administrator to continue to submit, on a biennial basis, an ex post facto report on agency support costs.

88/52. Agency support costs: effects of exchange rate fluctuations

The Governing Council,

Having considered the statement by the Administrative Committee on Co-ordination (DP/1988/66),

Recalling that by its decision 81/40 of 30 June 1981, it had established a procedure for compensating executing agencies for losses incurred as a result of exchange rate movements within certain prescribed limits for the period up to 1991, and that by its decision 88/53 an additional support-cost reimbursement was approved for those executing agencies eligible for such reimbursement in accordance with those provisions,

Noting also that in the years 1982 to 1985 the agencies now requesting an additional reimbursement for programme support costs had benefited considerably from the appreciation of the United States dollar vis-à-vis the national currency of their headquarter's location and that even in 1987 in three of the five countries concerned the value of the national currency compared with the United States dollar was still less than it had been in 1981,

Recognizing that the request had been made with the full support of the Administrator,

1. Authorizes the Administrator to make a special ad hoc additional support-cost reimbursement for 1987 to the executing agencies identified in document DP/1988/66 in the amounts shown in that document, less any amounts reimbursed to executing agencies by virtue of paragraph 5 (a) of decision 81/40 and in accordance with decision 88/53;

2. Emphasizes that this authorization is made on an exceptional basis and that the Council will not consider any further requests for support-cost reimbursement in excess of the amounts authorized by decisions 80/44 of 27 June 1980 and 81/40 for the years through 1991;

3. Requests the Administrator to bring this decision to the attention of the Administrative Committee on Co-ordination for its consideration and to inform the governing bodies of the executing agencies, through the Administrative Committee on Co-ordination, that:

(a) The Council considers that approval of this request should enhance the capacity of the executing agencies to support effectively the United Nations Development Programme projects entrusted to them and thus improve the quality of project execution by agencies;

(b) The Council intends, in accordance with decision 88/50, to examine, in consultation with and taking into account the views expressed by the executing agencies, the relationship between them and the United Nations Development Programme, including the best way for the United Nations Development Programme to provide technical assistance to the developing countries, accountability, and appropriate compensation arrangements to those agencies, Governments and other providers of services for United Nations Development Programme-funded projects with a view to devising successor arrangements for agency support costs to operate from January 1992, in which exercise it expects the fullest co-operation from the executing agencies;

4. Requests the Administrator to inform the Council, at the earliest opportunity, of the response of the Administrative Committee on Co-ordination.

88/53. Agency support costs: requests for additional reimbursement

The Governing Council,

Having considered the note by the Administrator (DP/1988/67) concerning the requests submitted by seven executing agencies, whose headquarters are based in Europe, for additional reimbursement of support costs based on the provisions of paragraph 5 (a) of decision 81/40 of 30 June 1981,

Noting that the average annual values of the currencies in each of the countries in which these organizations are located had appreciated by more than 11 per cent vis-à-vis the United States dollar in 1987 as compared with 1986, and that the provisions of paragraph 5 (a) of decision 81/40 do not apply to the small executing agencies, which are eligible for support cost flexibility arrangements,

Noting also that the World Health Organization and the Economic Commission for Europe have also submitted such requests since the preparation of document DP/1988/67,

Authorizes the Administrator to reimburse the nine (larger) executing agencies with headquarters in Europe referred to above for their support costs in 1987, in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 5 (a) of decision 81/40.

88/54. Management services

The Governing Council,

Having considered the report of the Administrator containing a review of the experience gained in the provision of management services (DP/1988/59),

Taking account of the views and comments of the members of the Council thereon,

1. Notes with satisfaction that the activities undertaken by the Administrator under management services agreements have been carried out in accordance with the principles and guidelines referred to in its decision 83/5 of 24 June 1983;

2. Authorizes the Administrator to continue to provide such services in accordance with the above-mentioned principles and guidelines;

3. Requests the Administrator to report to the Governing Council every two years, beginning in 1990, on the status of management services provided by him, with an analysis of any trends that may appear over the longer term and including information, by individual donor, on the level of voluntary contributions paid to the general resources of the United Nations Development Programme compared with amounts provided under management services agreements.

88/55. Action taken by other organs of the United Nations system

The Governing Council

88/56. Operational activities for development

The Governing Council,

Having considered the conclusions and recommendations of the report on the findings of the case-studies on the functioning of operational activities for development of the United Nations system (A/42/326/Add.1) and the report of the Administrator containing the response of the United Nations Development Programme to the report on the findings of the case-studies (DP/1988/64),

Taking into account the views expressed during its consideration of this item at its thirty-fifth session (1988),

Welcoming General Assembly resolution 42/196 of 11 December 1987,

Taking note of the report on the findings of the case-studies and the response of the United Nations Development Programme,

1. Decides to submit the following conclusions on the subject to the Economic and Social Council:

(a) The Governing Council concurs with the view that the importance of assistance from the United Nations system for technical co-operation goes beyond its quantitative value, because of its multilateral, non-political and impartial character, including its provision on a grant basis; in order to be more effective, the assistance of the United Nations system should be better co-ordinated, programmed and implemented with greater cohesion, particularly at the field level, in accordance with the development needs and priorities of developing countries. It further acknowledges the important role of the United Nations Development Programme as the central funding and co-ordinating mechanism for the United Nations system for technical co-operation, which is structured to be responsive to the priorities of developing countries and not intended to promote any particular sectoral approach. By contrast, the United Nations Population Fund appropriately adopts an advocacy approach to its population mandate;

(b) The Council considers the recommendation concerning the need for the United Nations development system to act as a coherent system at the country level to be of central importance. The issues here include the primary responsibility of recipient Governments for co-ordination; means of enabling the resident co-ordinator to fulfil the role and functions envisaged in General Assembly resolutions 32/197 of 20 December 1977 and 41/171 of 5 December 1986; greater collaboration within the United Nations system on programming; and the rationalization of the field representation of the United Nations system. The Council encourages the members of the Joint Consultative Group on Policy to collaborate as closely as possible, at the field as well as headquarters levels, on substantive matters, including programming, and attaches high importance to the forthcoming report by the Director-General for Development and International Economic Co-operation on the scope for a wider and more effective programming process;

(c) While the Governing Council recognizes the implications of varying situations and circumstances in recipient countries, it agrees that the relationship between recipient Governments and resident co-ordinators, which should include a clear expression by Governments of the responsibilities of the co-ordinator, is crucial to the coherence and co-ordination of the assistance provided by the United Nations system. Within the United Nations system, the authority of the resident co-ordinator should be enhanced to provide effective leadership, and a stronger and more precise inter-agency agreement would be an important contribution. The Council believes that resident co-ordinators can be drawn in certain circumstances from outside the permanent staff of the United Nations Development Programme. Therefore, it encourages the Administrator to select qualified staff from other United Nations agencies to serve as United Nations Development Programme resident representatives. It does not agree that the co-ordinator should be established as a separate office in countries with large programmes; in its view, much of the potential effectiveness of the co-ordinator derives from his/her access to the resources of the United Nations Development Programme. The Council awaits with interest the report of the Director-General for Development and International Economic Co-operation which is being prepared in accordance with paragraph 23 of resolution 42/196;

(d) The Governing Council welcomes the recommendation on the need for decentralization, to the extent possible, of the management of operational activities. The Council notes the existing degree of decentralization within the United Nations Development Programme at the level of country programming, the formulation of project proposals and project approval, and encourages further steps in that direction. An important role for headquarters in the provision of advice and in assuring quality is retained. The United Nations Population Fund has also taken welcome steps towards the decentralization of programme authority to the field. Field representatives of executing agencies of United Nations Development Programme projects may not uniformly possess the authority to respond flexibly to emerging situations. The Council agrees that the increased harmonization of procedures, using to the extent possible Government planning and operating cycles, procedures and formats, must be pursued. In this context, it welcomes the agreement among agencies on the formulation of a model project agreement. The objective should be a better and more effective response to requirements of recipient countries;

(e) The Council agrees with the observation that self-reliance should receive particular attention in programming approaches, and that it is the objective of technical co-operation. The Council agrees that individual projects are more likely to succeed when situated in the context of sectoral and subsectoral objectives. Assistance to Governments, at their request, in the formulation of such sectoral strategies, is one of the fertile areas for enhanced collaboration between the United Nations Development Programme and the sectoral agencies of the United Nations system. The judgement as to whether United Nations funds should be concentrated on a few sectors or programmes rests primarily with Governments;

(f) The Council stresses the need for the continuous relevance of the United Nations system operational activities so as to respond to the varied and changing requirements of developing countries. While requirements vary from country to country, the system should respond adequately to these needs. The Council welcomes the fact that the allocations for the fourth cycle focus on the countries with the greatest needs, especially the least developed countries;

(g) The Council endorses the recommendation that more attention be given to reinforcing the central funding role of the United Nations Development Programme. The analysis to be undertaken by the Director-General of the concept of central funding should allow Member States to take clear decisions on the issue and on the follow-up to be undertaken. The initiative rests mainly with Governments, but a co-operative attitude among the organizations of the system is also an important factor. The Council urges the Administrator to explore means of establishing more collaborative relationships with its executing agencies;

(h) The Council welcomes the decision of the Administrator to raise the project approval limit of resident representatives to $700,000 and encourages steps, wherever warranted, aimed at further decentralization with a view to increased efficiency at the country level without jeopardizing the quality of assistance. It shares the view of the Administrator that many issues need to be taken into account with respect to the recommendation eventually to abolish the approval limit and to change the functions of the headquarters of the United Nations Development Programme accordingly;

(i) The Council recognizes that the United Nations Development Programme country programme does not now serve the wider role envisaged in Assembly resolutions 32/197 and 41/171. It expresses keen interest in the study by the Director-General to assess the constraints on the use of the United Nations Development Programme country programme as a frame of reference for United Nations system operational activities and to explore a wider, more effective programming process. The Council is interested in the possibility of further reflections on the concept of joint programming, including the feasibility of carrying out on an experimental basis and at the request of the host Government such programming encompassing a broad spectrum of United Nations technical assistance. The Council is particularly interested in a clearer perception of which organizations within the United Nations system and which resources could be covered by such processes.

Within the framework of the responsibility of the Government for the formulation of their United Nations Development Programme country programmes, the United Nations Development Programme should facilitate the involvement of the appropriate specialized agencies in the programming process. In this context, it welcomes the information provided to the Council by the Director-General concerning enhanced inter-agency collaboration at the field level, as manifested in joint declarations of intentions. The Council believes that the best frame of reference for various inputs from the United Nations system would always be a programme of technical assistance requirements prepared by the recipient Governments, reflecting the needs arising from their national development plans and priorities;

(j) The Council considers that the collaboration with the international financial institutions should take into account the special character, mandates and policies of the institutions involved and respect their differences. The Council notes the arrangements devised to date and considers that as economic management becomes the focus of large numbers of developing countries, the United Nations Development Programme should be responsive to requests from recipient Governments for complementary technical assistance. The collaboration between the United Nations Population Fund and the World Bank on population issues is encouraged to deepen further;

(k) The Council considers that the capacity of the system for analytical work at the country level could be enhanced by ensuring that representatives of specialized agencies have technical functions and capacities in their sectoral areas, and by strengthening the capacity of the resident co-ordinators to draw upon this expertise in support of government programmes. Within the United Nations Development Programme, the Council welcomes steps which are being taken on a selective basis, such as in the strengthening of the analytical capacity of field offices in some African countries;

(l) The degree of interaction on matters of development policy will depend on the views of Governments on the appropriate role for the United Nations system. United Nations Development Programme support for national technical co-operation assessments and programmes, round-table meetings and substantive participation in consultative groups are some of the measures that help to provide a basis for such interaction where desired by Governments;

(m) The Council supports the recommendation to increase the flow of development information to the field and recommends that it should be made more accessible to Governments and the donor community, using modern information techniques;

(n) The Council strongly endorses the view that the United Nations system should provide maximum assistance to recipient Governments, at their request, to strengthen their capacity to co-ordinate external assistance. It is important that recipient Governments be assisted in building up their capacities in co-ordination with the United Nations system and other external aid at the field level. The United Nations Development Programme has an important role to play in strengthening the capacities of recipient Governments in the area of co-ordination, if so requested by them. Similarly, coherence of action among agencies and harmonization of procedures and formats by multilateral and bilateral donors are a necessary supplement to the co-ordination role of Governments;

(o) The Council agrees that non-governmental organizations can have an important role to play in some areas of operational activities in support of recipient Government efforts and plans. Their great potential should be tapped. In order to render development assistance as a whole more effective and coherent, recipient Governments may bring non-governmental organizations into the development assistance co-ordination arrangements they opt for;

(p) The Council notes the findings on the question of agency representation. The Council encourages increased co-operation among representatives of the United Nations Development Programme and the United Nations agencies in the field so as to provide multisectoral and integrated advice as may be required by Governments. This could be reinforced by further vigorous efforts for common premises, taking into consideration the arrangements with the host Governments in this regard. The Council welcomes the steps undertaken by the members of the Joint Consultative Group on Policy and expresses the hope that agreement thereon among the heads of the organizations concerned will be forthcoming shortly and that the effective implementation thereof will be pursued. Other agencies should be invited to join the agreement;

(q) The Council notes that the United Nations Development Programme has also acquired a role as an implementor of programmes and projects, while United Nations technical agencies have acquired a funding role. At the same time, Governments are becoming increasingly capable of executing programmes. Thus, relationships among these partners are evolving to meet new capabilities and new needs. The Council stresses the need for it to assess this evolving relationship within the United Nations development system;

2. Takes note of the views of the Executive Director of the United Nations Population Fund on the implementation of General Assembly resolution 42/196 set forth in the statements at the thirty-fifth session of the Council and made available to the Council in an informal note, welcomes the increased co-operation between the respective geographic divisions of the United Nations Population Fund and the United Nations Development Programme as well as the simultaneous presentation of country programmes for a few selected countries by the Fund and the Programme, and requests the Executive Director to periodically report to the Council on the views of the Fund and activities in support of the implementation of General Assembly resolution 42/196;

3. Calls upon the Administrator of the United Nations Development Programme and the Executive Director of the United Nations Population Fund to continue to give strong support to and co-operate fully with the Director-General for Development and International Economic Co-operation in the implementation of resolution 42/196.

88/57. Report of the World Commission on Environment and Development, and the Environmental Perspective to the Year 2000 and Beyond

The Governing Council,

Welcoming the report of the World Commission on Environment and Development, entitled Our Common Future, which stresses the interdependence between economic, social, environmental and other factors related to development,

Recalling General Assembly resolution 42/187 of 11 December 1987 on the report of the World Commission on Environment and Development, and General Assembly resolution 42/186 of 11 December 1987 on the Environmental Perspective to the Year 2000 and Beyond, bearing in mind the essential role of the United Nations Environment Programme within the United Nations system in catalysing environmentally sound and sustainable development,

Recalling further its decision 87/10 of June 1987 affirming the importance of improved management of the environment and the supportive role that the United Nations Development Programme can play in this area, as well as its decision 88/35 on population, resources and environment,

1. Recognizes that the effects of resource use and environmental damage are global in nature and that it is in the common interest of all countries to pursue policies aimed at environmentally sound and sustainable development;

2. Considers that concern for environmentally sound and sustainable development is integral to the development process of each country and should be taken into account in the design of development strategies and programmes;

3. Emphasizes in this regard particularly the need to take measures to eliminate mass poverty, which is often at the root of environmental degradation;

4. Stresses the need for additional financial resources and strengthened technical co-operation for the purposes set out in paragraphs 14 and 15 of General Assembly resolution 42/187;

5. Welcomes the evaluation by the United Nations Development Programme of its activities in the field of environment, and encourages initiatives by the Programme to strengthen its capacity to promote environmentally sound and sustainable development;

6. Requests the Administrator to assist recipient countries, at their request and in accordance with their national development plans, priorities and objectives, in enhancing their capacity to integrate environmental concerns into their development strategies and programmes;

7. Requests the Administrator to continue to review the programming instruments of the United Nations Development Programme, such as the programme advisory note, the country programme formats, mid-term reviews and evaluations, with a view to ensuring the appropriate treatment of the sustainability issue in development programmes;

8. Requests the Administrator to pay attention to the need for education, training and research on the two-way relationship between environment and development as well as for the promotion of international exchange of experience, knowledge and technology concerning the protection of the environment;
